OTHER:

Exceptionally Prepared. Beautifully Presented. Ready to Sail the World.

Fenice is an outstanding example of the Beneteau Oceanis 62, meticulously maintained and thoughtfully upgraded for serious offshore cruising. Professionally configured for safe and efficient short-handed passagemaking, she combines elegant contemporary styling with proven bluewater capability, making her equally at home crossing oceans or enjoying extended cruising with family and friends.

Designed by Berret-Racoupeau Yacht Design with luxurious interiors by Andreani Design, the Oceanis 62 is renowned for delivering outstanding sailing performance without compromising comfort. Fenice takes that reputation even further, benefitting from extensive owner-driven enhancements and an exceptional level of maintenance that sets her apart from comparable yachts.

On deck, the expansive cockpit has been designed for effortless sailing and relaxed entertaining. Twin helm stations provide excellent visibility and control, while generous seating creates an inviting social space underway or at anchor. Wide side decks and carefully considered deck layouts ensure safe movement around the yacht in all conditions. A large electric swim platform transforms the stern into a superb waterfront terrace, perfect for swimming, launching the tender, or enjoying evenings at anchor.

The interior is equally impressive. Large panoramic windows flood the saloon with natural light, creating a bright and welcoming atmosphere. The spacious living areas, beautifully appointed cabins with private ensembles, and fully equipped galley provide all the comfort expected from a flagship cruising yacht, making life aboard as enjoyable during extended passages as it is in your favourite marina.

Under sail, Fenice is both powerful and remarkably easy to handle. Her modern hull design, balanced sail plan and responsive helm inspire confidence whether sailing short-handed or with a full crew. Every aspect of her setup has been refined to maxi efficiency, safety and ease of operation, making her an ideal yacht for ambitious bluewater adventures.

Highlights

Professionally configured for offshore cruising by a highly experienced blue-water sailor, optimised for husband-and-wife or short-handed sailing.

Outstanding energy independence with a 1,435W solar array, 1,600Ah AGM house battery bank (2024), 17kVA Cummins Onan generator, and 2,000W inverter, providing exceptional autonomy away from shore power.

Premium B&G H5000 navigation suite featuring Halo radar, autopilot, ForwardScan sonar, AIS transceiver and wireless VHF handset.

Professionally maintained throughout ownership with factory warranty work completed, a comprehensive 2026 survey, and an extensive maintenance history.

A Yacht Refined by Real Offshore Experience

What truly distinguishes Fenice is not simply her impressive specification, but the extraordinary experience behind her configuration.

Her owner has accumulated hundreds of thousands of offshore miles and has been directly involved in developing and refining sail plans for numerous blue-water cruising yachts and high-performance racing programmes. That lifetime of knowledge has been invested throughout Fenice, from sail handling systems and rig optimisation to balance, efficiency and practical offshore functionality.

The result is a yacht that feels exceptionally well sorted, where every upgrade has been made with genuine offshore experience rather than theoretical design. For her next owner, this represents an opportunity to acquire a vessel that has already benefited from years of refinement, allowing immediate confidence for extended cruising anywhere in the world.

Owner Handover in Fiji

To ensure a seamless transition, the current owner is available to provide a comprehensive handover in the spectacular cruising grounds of Fiji. This unique opportunity allows the new owner to become familiar with every aspect of the yacht while sailing in one of the world's finest cruising destinations before embarking on their own adventures.

Whether your dream is exploring the islands of the South Pacific, undertaking extended Mediterranean cruising, or setting course for a circumnavigation, Fenice offers the perfect combination of performance, luxury and proven offshore capability.

She is more than simply a beautiful yacht—she is a thoroughly prepared, ocean-ready cruising platform that has been continuously refined by an owner who truly understands life at sea.

Late-model Oceanis 62 yachts of this calibre, with this level of preparation, maintenance and offshore capability, rarely become available. The BENETEAU OCEANIS YACHT 62 yacht presents an exceptional opportunity to step aboard and sail away with complete confidence.
